Why not get out in the dark and see how many of these you can spot or hear?

Fox – Throughout winter, during mating season, the vixen's blood-curdling scream is unmistakable and far louder than the male's gentle 'yelpy' bark.

Seen

Muntjac deer – The UK's smallest and most secretive deer, muntjac are also known as 'barking' deer because of their loud and sharp yap or bark.

Seen

Pipistrelle bat – The smallest and most common bat in the UK, a single pipistrelle may eat up to 3,000 insects in one night and live to 16 years of age!

Seen

Tawny owl – The owl that makes the famous 'twit-twoo' call, which is actually a duet between the male and female who bond for life.

Bingo!

Badger – Their striking facial markings make badgers (also known as brocks) easily recognisable. Badgers live underground in burrows called 'setts'.

Seen

Barn owl – These large, white and gold birds have a long, eerie, screeching call. They also hiss, snore and yap and resemble ghostly apparitions at night.
